

Tricinium Poetry Contest Entry Form

First prize winner will receive $1,000; second prize $250; third prize $100. Top three poems will be set to music and premiered at a concert in October, 2007, as part of The MacDowell Colony's Centennial Celebration.

Composer Lawrence Siegel of Tricinium will create three musical compositions; the three winning poets will be honored guests at the premiere, planned for autumn 2007 in Peterborough, NH.

The top 20+/- poems will be published in a booklet commemorating community to be distributed at the event.

Reading fee $15 (US), $25 (international) payable to Tricinium. Entries will not be returned.

Submissions must be postmarked no later than January 31, 2007. Winners will be announced by March 15, 2007, and will be published on Tricinium.com. To receive list of winners, include a self-addressed, stamped envelope (SASE). No telephone calls please. Tricinium reserves the right to make no award.

Poetry celebrating community and how individuals can inspire community is sought. Poets are encouraged to write about their experience of community, their sense of place, and/or the special places and people they have known who represent community.

Works should not exceed one-page to be considered. Two copies of each work are required (one without author's name and contact information). Poems published elsewhere are eligible (with written permission from the publisher) and poetry can be in any language, provided a translation is included. Entrants may make multiple submissions as long as an entry form and fee accompany each entry.

Send entries to: Poetry Contest, Tricinium Limited, 191 Washington Street, Keene, NH 03431, USA.
